

Participatory Methodologies for Development –
<http://www.intrac.org/training.php?id=58>

29 November–1 December, London

Course objectives:

- Develop conceptual understanding of the roots of participatory development and why it is still valid
- Reflect on participatory methodologies in the modern context
- Consider participation in your organisation: what it means to run a participatory project; implications for management and organisational capacity building
- Identify the basic principles that need to be respected in use of participatory techniques

Rights-Based Approaches to Development –
<http://www.intrac.org/training.php?id=67>

6–8 December, London

Course objectives:

- Learn about different meanings of a rights-based approach to development
 - Examine the key legal instruments underpinning the rights-based approach
 - Explore different ways that NGOs have incorporated a rights-based approach into their strategy and programming
 - Analyse the appropriate position for your organisation towards the rights-based approach
- Venue: Southwell House, London UK (both courses)

Course fees: £420 - fees include training materials, meals and refreshments during the course.
Discount offered for two or more applicants from the same organisation - £400 per participant!